

What a difference a day can make!

Close the distance between what we know and what we do in professional learning

Take a day for you to connect with others and go within,
to renew your focus on professional learning, and to go deeper ... engage in dynamic conversation around leading edge thinking and walk away with some process tools to take back to your school or district.

What's at the heart of the matter?

What drives change and leadership in professional learning?

What might emerge if you think deeply about learning among a community of colleagues?

Be inspired by thought leaders

Dennis Sparks is the former executive director of the National Staff Development Council \. Sparks has been a teacher, counselor, and co-director of an alternative high school. Sparks has authored Designing Powerful Professional Development for Teachers and Principals and Conversations that Matter.

Bruce Beairsto was Superintendent of the Richmond School District from 2003-2009. He began his career as an educator in 1973 and has been a teacher, vice-principal, district curriculum coordinator for technology and a director of instruction as well as an assistant superintendent. Bruce brings a broad perspective to the theme of Leadership.

Executive Airport Plaza, Richmond

Friday, April 16, 2010 • 8:30am to 3:30pm (lunch provided)

Jointly sponsored by

B.C. Principals' & Vice-Principals' Association and the Staff Development Council of BC — A Professional Learning Network

bcp vpa

